— 01 — ABOUT

For 14 years, I've worked in Management Information Systems (MIS) and data analytics within the Telecom industry — managing business data, building MIS reports, developing dashboards, and analyzing operational data to support business decisions. That experience taught me exactly where businesses lose time: repetitive reporting, manual data entry, and processes that depend on someone remembering to do them. Today, I help businesses replace repetitive work with AI-powered systems that improve efficiency, reduce operational costs, and support smarter decision-making. Using Power BI, Excel, AI workflow automation, AI agents, and AI chatbots, I build systems that run themselves — reducing errors, freeing up staff time, and giving owners a clearer, faster view of their operations.
